REGINA D'ITALIA

REGINA D'ITALIA is a 65-metre full-displacement motor yacht built by the Italian shipyard Codecasa and delivered to her owner in 2019. The project was entirely developed in-house by the shipyard, covering naval architecture, engineering and exterior design. The interiors were created by M2 Atelier, with a clear focus on practicality, durability and long-term operation.

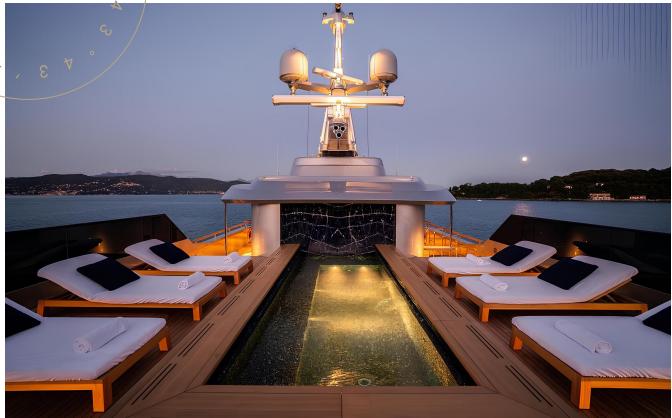

The yacht features a steel hull with an aluminium superstructure. She has a beam of 11.2 metres, a draft of approximately 3.3 metres and a gross tonnage of around 1,300 GT. All four decks are fully finished in teak. Her classic layout and substantial displacement make REGINA D'ITALIA a true transoceanic yacht, designed for extended autonomous cruising.

The accommodation layout is designed for up to 11 guests. Two master cabins have been combined into a single owner's suite with panoramic glazing on both sides, complemented by four additional double guest cabins. Crew accommodation is arranged separately for up to eight crew members, ensuring a high standard of professional service.

The main social areas are distributed across the main and upper decks and include lounges, dining spaces, relaxation areas and a fully equipped wheelhouse. The yacht is fitted with a stabilisation system that operates effectively both underway and at anchor, significantly enhancing comfort in a wide range of sea conditions.

Propulsion is provided by twin Caterpillar 3516B engines, each delivering 2,000 hp. Cruising speed is approximately 12–15 knots, with a maximum speed of up to 17.5–18.5 knots. Fuel capacity of around 165,000 litres allows for a range of up to 5,000 nautical miles, while fresh water capacity is approximately 32,000 litres.

REGINA D'ITALIA is a classic 65-metre Codecasa yacht, purpose-built for long-distance cruising, high autonomy and consistent comfort at sea, combining proven engineering solutions with a rational and well-balanced layout.
